

This is, um, engine 282. It's an old Mac fire engine. Everybody knows the Bulldog Mac from the trucks, but they made fire trucks as well back in the day. We transitioned Engine 282, same number here.

Um, this much larger piece, uh, has bigger hoses, a larger pump capacity. Point Breeze was able to provide critical support to help us fund this new special rescue vehicle. This is a smaller vehicle that any of our firefighters or EMTs are able to drive. It has a full array of EMT and special equipment for medical emergencies.

So yeah, we're so proud of our members who worked really hard to design this piece with the community in mind so that we are ready for their needs to serve them as we go forward.

So the community is integral to our service. We do go out and provide fire and EMS protection, but without the community coming back to us, um, it's sort of a one-way street.

And I was a very excited when Point Breeze reached out to us. You can make a million dollars and hate your job. Um, I don't make any money here, but I love what I do every day. You make a difference in people's lives.

It's a terrible day for them, and you come in with an answer and a solution and help them out and calm them down and make things better.
